

THE ROYAL COLLEGE

INFORMATION BOOK

Chairman's Message

Man has survived many a calamity and hardship. He had to face many difficulties. Nature, which is perhaps man's best friend, created obstacles in his way to progress. Ignorance was man's greatest adversary. It was, at many stages in man's history, responsible for his miseries. It was knowledge that emerged as man's best friend. It took him millions of years to defeat ignorance and to befriend knowledge.

As a matter of fact man could become "man" only after he conquered ignorance. The journey through the ages was hard and full of trials.

He triumphed only after ignorance receded. This became possible with the slow spread of knowledge. Knowledge evolved for a man a slow process of learning. What we, today, call education is a systematized spread of conscious and unconscious knowledge. In today's world the concept of education has come to be identified as the most important milestone in man's history. Education, as a matter of fact imparts the identity to man of which he is not aware of. So I finally declare that the establishment of THE ROYAL COLLEGE aims at enrichment of MAN.
